DokuFest is the leading film festival in Kosovo that gathers not only films and filmmakers from around the world but also film lovers from different countries and different cultures. It is the biggest Festival in Kosovo and amongst the well known in the region.

Since August 2012 every year I had the honor to redesign the new layout of the festivals' daily magazine – Doku Daily.

Doku Daily was the top magazine informing people for everything happening at the festival including film reviews, interviews with famous producers, actors, directors and visitors, recommended films to attend, unique pictures from events etc.

With a circulation of 13.000 copies per day, Doku Daily is now in the hands of people across the world.

All the author rights of this project go to Dokufest and this is only a presentation of my work during the time of my contract.
