PERSONAL PROJECTS

Grocery Stock Management (04/2023 - 06/2023)
- I developed a database system using SQL for food product stock management, enabling accurate tracking of product quantities, expiration dates, orders and supplies. Detailed ERDs (Entity-Relationship Diagrams) were created to model the database schema, illustrating the relationships between entities such as products, suppliers, and transactions.

RIIMS API(System for the Management of Information and Interaction of Professors)
(05/2024 - Present)
- RIIMS aims to provide a specialized platform for professors to manage their academic data, including publications, projects, teaching experience, and training. The system is being developed using React for the frontend and .NET for the backend, ensuring a robust and dynamic solution. With this information available, it becomes very easy to generate a CV."

Travel Agency Website (04/2023 - 06/2024)
- I Developed a dynamic travel agency website using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and PHP. The platform allows users to browse, search, and book travel packages. It features responsive design, user authentication, a booking system where users can reserve packages, and a database-driven backend for managing destinations, packages, reservations, and customer information.
